After battling 7 stress fractures through her twenties and being told that she wasn't good enough to make it at the highest level, Lisa Weightman is proof that impossible is nothing.

Lisa's first marathon in 2008 was the equal-quickest debut marathon of any Australian in history.

Lisa has since gone on to represent Australia at the 2008 Beijing Olympics, the World Championships, the World Cross Country Championships and won her first international marathon in Nagano, Japan, this year. All while working full time as a consultant at IBM in Melbourne.

Last month Lisa broke the coveted Gold Coast Half Marathon record, with a winning time of 69:00 minutes the fastest half marathon ever run by a female on Australian soil.

While in Perth, she will also be running the City to Surf 12km event.
